

Mathew B. Bradbury

129 W. 88 St. 4B

New York, NY. 10028

Mathew.Bradbury@qc.cuny.edu

Ph:(347) 210-6046

Academic Preparation

Ph.D: University of Utah, Department of Economics, 2008

Dissertation title: "Essays in Emerging Market Crisis: The Role of Sovereign Debt"

Fields: Development Economics, History of Economic Thought.

BS Economics, University of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah, 2003

BS Sociology, University of Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah, 2003

Academic Positions

Substitute Assistant Professor

Queens College, Queens, New York Fall 2008-Present

Substitute Adjunct Professor: (Full time)

Queens College, Queens, New York Fall 2007-Spring 2008

Adjunct Professor:

St. Francis College. Brooklyn, New York: Fall 2006

Queens College (CUNY), Queens, New York Spring 2005-Fall 2006

St. Johns University, Queens, New York. Fall 2005-Spring 2006

University of Utah, Department of Economics Fall 2004-Spring 2005, Spring 2007

Teaching Assistant:

University of Utah, Department of Economics Fall 2003-Spring 2004

University of Utah, Department of Sociology Fall-Spring 2001-2002

Research Assistant: Fall 2001-Spring 2002

University of Utah, Department of Sociology

Topic: World city networks and hierarchies, an empirical analysis of global air travel links. Assisted, Michael Timberlake.

Courses Taught

Business Economics

Intermediate Corporate Finance

Industrial Organization

Principles & Intermediate Microeconomics

Principles & Intermediate Macroeconomics

History of European Economics

Statistics for Economists

Money and Banking

Papers

Bradbury, Mathew.(2008) "Reserve Accumulation in Emerging Markets: Impetus and Implication".
(Working Paper)

Bradbury, Mathew and Vernengo, Matias. "Limits to Dollarization in Ecuador: Lessons from Argentina".
Political Economy of the World System, Annual Conference. Under Review For Review of the center
Fernand Braudel. With the expectation of publication.

Book Reviews

“Essays From a Time of Crisis”, Stanley Fisher. Review of Political Economy, Vol 21 (2), April, 2009, PP 324-326.

“Capitalism Unleashed”, Andrew Glyn. Review of Radical Political Economy. Vol 40 (2) 2008.

Presentations

“Reserve Accumulation in Emerging Markets: Impetus and Implication.” Queens College Faculty Seminar Series. December 10, 2008.

“Limits to Dollarization: Ecuador.” 32nd Annual Conference of the Political Economy of the World System of American Sociology Association. April 25, 2008

“Competing Uses for Capital Surges: Reserve Accumulation Versus Debt Amortization.” Eastern Economic Association Meetings. February 23, 2007. Manhattan, New York

“Reports From The World Social Forum, Caracas 2006.” URPE Summer conference, 2006.

References: Available upon request
